(By the Associated Press) PARIS, Jan. 10.—France's assumption of the Ruhr coal control is now announced for tomorrow in a note dispatched by the French government to Germany today.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 10.—The first Belgian troops to be put in motion for co-operation with the French in occupying the Ruhr entrained here today in four trains for Aix La Chapelle. They totaled 1800 men.

Tanks for the Ruhr have left directly from Ghent. The troops from Brussels are comprised of infantry, machine guns, cavalry, aviators and transportation service men.

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—Lokal Anzeiger today printed a statement declaring that two regiments of Lithuanian troops were "profiteering by the international situation" and are crossing the frontier with the object of occupying Memel, the east Prussian area internationalized by the treaty of Versailles. A number of the frontier inhabitants are accompanying the troops.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A Reuter dispatch from Cologne this afternoon said: "The attitude of the Germans in the British area is decidedly anti-French. A large irresponsible section of the population favors actual resistance and the wildest rumors are abroad. Fears are expressed less the British and American troops are withdrawn."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Recall of Roland W. Boyden, the unofficial American representative on the reparations commission, was demanded today in the senate by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri. "An unofficial representative was an unofficial meddler," declared Senator Reed, who added that such a representative was capable of doing as much harm as an official spokesman.

Eight Fires for City Department During New Year

Eight fires for the new year was the record for the local department, which it answered two calls today. One call was to a barn at the west edge of the city on Fifth street. No damage was done. The car of W. B. Gay caught fire on East Fourteenth street about noon but little damage was done.

Police this afternoon were hunting for several small boys who were said to have set fire to the barn on West Fifth street this morning. Their identity is known to the officers and the matter was expected to be taken up this afternoon at the city hall, following the taking into custody of the boys.

Practically no damage has been done by any of the fire calls this year.

INDIANS HELD ON RIOT CHARGES AGAINST CROWN

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Advices from Lucknow state that the death sentence has been imposed on 172 Indians accused of murder and arson as a result of the non-cooperative riots at Chauri-Chaura last February.

Two hundred and twenty-eight persons were originally held on the charges. Of this number forty-eight were acquitted and two received two year prison sentences. Seven died while awaiting trial. Seventeen native police were killed in the rioting.

Scandal?

Paul Alderson, clothier, and well-known business man of the city, was found guilty and plead for the leniency of the court.

A battery of witnesses and a corps of attorneys headed by his chief counsel, Robert S. Kerr, could not muster a string of evidence plausible enough to soften the hearts of the hard-hearted jury and remove the load of shame from the shoulders of the defendant.

So wide was the scope of evidence and the versatility of the witnesses that the county attorney and the judge were involved in a degrading scandal, long hidden to the respectability of Ada.

Alderson was charged with being A. W. O. L. from a legion meeting and convicted in special court session Tuesday night at the Fireman's hall.

APPROPRIATIONS BEFORE SENATE

Expenses of Governor's Corp and Legislature Threshed Out in Session.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 10.—The appropriations committee of the state senate met today for the first time this session and considered bills covering proposed expenses of the governor's office and the state supreme court. It was indicated that the departmental appropriation bills would be prepared earlier this session than ever before.

The senate bill providing $150,000 for mileage and per diem expenses of the legislature, was passed at the morning session.

A joint resolution providing for repayment of $42,000 paid the school land department for leases in the Red river bottoms, which later became involved in litigation, was introduced in the upper house by W. H. Woods of Purcell.

Senators Anglin, Luttrell and Hill were appointed members of a senate committee to arrange a joint session of the two groups at which United States senators and representatives who care to address the legislature will be heard. Senator R. L. Owen is expected to speak later in the day.

Senator Harry B. Cordell of Manhattan announced that he would introduce a two million dollar warehouse bill in the senate tomorrow.

STRATFORD WELL REPORTED GASSER

Residents Entertain Hope of Getting Flow on Beauman-Heath Lease.

(By Staff Correspondent)

STRATFORD, Okla., Jan. 10.—(Special).—Does Stratford have a gas well? That is a question which can be heard on all sides, for the little city is anxious to get piped in to the homes the king of all fuels. That Beauman & Heath in their well 4 miles south and 3-4 of a mile west of this place, section 10-3-2, have some gas is evident. It is the general belief that it is a good gasser and that before many more months have passed gas will be the fuel of this city.

The drill touched the sand at 920 feet and a flow of gas was encountered. Trouble with the casing and other difficulties in the hole have been encountered, and it is impossible to determine just how much gas will be available when the hole is cleaned out and ready for use.

While the city is not over enthusiastic and counting the chickens before they hatch, there is a feeling of optimism and hope. A new spirit is evident. With gas on the south, oil northeast of the city and with better agricultural conditions, Stratford is facing the future with confidence. The business men are feeling better and they say the outlook is bright.

TOKIO.—Graveyards on the outskirts of the city will be removed to beautify the town and facilitate the municipal reconstruction scheme. Buddhist priests opposed the scheme urging that at least in the precincts of the temples graveyards should remain.

ROBERTSON ADDS TO PAROLE LIST

Miami Man is Released by Clemency of Out-Going Oklahoma Governor.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 10.—Records of forty acts of clemency decreed by former governor J. B. A. Robertson just before his term expired were made public today. The number included eight pardons, 27 paroles, and five commutations of sentences. One parole was revoked.

Seven convicts serving life terms in the penitentiary were among the beneficiaries.

Samuel Hannon of Miami was paroled from the state penitentiary by Governor J. B. A. Robertson as one of the last official acts of executive clemency of the former administration, it was learned today when the records were made public at the office of the secretary of state.

Hannon was convicted of manslaughter in the Ottawa county district court in February 1922, and sentenced to five years imprisonment. He began serving the term on April 29.

Two physicians who with the county judge, sheriff and fourteen residents of Miami recommended the parole testimony before the pardon that further incarceration probably would result fatally for Hannon.

Many Schools in Pontotoc County Get Improvements

Rural schools of Pontotoc county are taking every opportunity to expand their facilities for the students. It was revealed in various reports received in the office of A. Floyd, county superintendent.

Rural schools at many points in the county have announced improvements bettering the conditions. Basketball courts and supplies have been furnished many schools in the county as well as many other athletic facilities. Phonographs, pianos and other musical instruments have been placed in many of the schools of the county, reports show.

Reports from rural schools have been received following a tour of inspection made by Superintendent Floyd and Professor McCormick, of the Normal faculty. Schools in the southern part of the county were visited, Floyd announced.

National Guards Accompany Teams to See Roff Game

Two companies of the national guard were to accompany the guards men basketball team to Roff tonight to witness the basketball game between the Battery team here and the Battery team of that place.

The guardsmen were to participate unofficially, using the company trucks for transportation. It is the first of a series of prospective games with guard units basketball teams of this section, managers said today.

A return game will be played in the armory here at a later date, it was announced.

GIRL TESTIFIES KLAN FORCED HER TO LEAVE

(By the Associated Press)

BASTROP, La., Jan. 10.—Addie Mae Hamilton, known as the "daughter of the Klan" declared on the witness stand in the open hearing investigation today into the slaying of Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards, she was forced to leave her home near Mer Rouge and was deported from the state by the Ku Klux Klan.

She named Dr. E. M. McKoin, former mayor of Mer Rouge, and "Pink" Kirkpatrick as two of the party of men, who she testified, came to her mother's home one night, took her away and placed her aboard a train for Little Rock, Ark., the home of her sister.

The young woman gave her age as 17.

"How do you know the Ku Klux sent you to Little Rock?" George S. Guion, who began the questioning of the young woman, asked. "Because Dr. McKoin and 'Pink' Kirkpatrick and about six others came to my mother's home about 10:30 o'clock at night and told me they were going to send me away."

FORUM MEETINGS TO PROBE NEEDS

Citizens Urged to Assist Ada Chamber of Commerce in Efforts to Expand.

In opening the regular series of forum meetings for the public, the Ada Chamber of Commerce, is circulating a questionnaire which is designed to obtain ideas of Ada citizens as to matters of importance which the public is most interested in. Ralph Warner, secretary, said today.

The first forum meeting will be held Tuesday evening, January 16, at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. It will be called to order at eight o'clock. Every citizen is urged to attend and express his opinion of matters pertaining to the upbuilding of Ada.

In addition to the expression of ideas from individuals, able speakers will also address the gathering with brief talks on important phases of the commerce work. In another part of the News appears an advertisement containing the questionnaire which all are urged to clip and fill out.

Mail your clippings to Dr. Sam A. McKee, chairman of the forum committee.

The first question is quoted as follows: "What of first importance, can the Chamber of Commerce do to help you?"

The second question: "What can the Chamber of Commerce do that will be of the most benefit to Ada?"

Mr. Warner said these expressions of opinion from the public were essential in order for the board of directors to have first hand information as to what the public wants and expects to have done by that body.

Letters dealing with the two questions above mentioned will be accepted if citizens desire to write them, Mr. Warner said.

WIZARD OF KLAN PROTECTS ORDER

Evans Declares Kluxers Not Responsible for Acts in Louisiana Murder.

(By the Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 10.—Significance today is attached to the statement of Dr. H. W. Evans, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, issued last night in which he unqualifiedly upheld the denial of the Klan officials in Louisiana of any connection by members of the organization with the Morhouse parish kidnapping and floggings in which Watts Daniels and Thomas Richards were put to death last August.

In connection with the trial now in progress at Bastrop, La., seat of the alleged crime, in which local officials have implicated alleged Ku Klux Klan members, Dr. Evans said: "I desire to call the attention of the public at this time to the fact that the hearing at Bastrop is not a trial but is simply a presentation of one side of the case. The witnesses are not even allowed to be cross questioned and the Klan enemies are therefore having their day in court."

Dr. Evans expresses confidence that the Klan will be vindicated. Asserting that the Klan has no more desire for lawless acts than do any law abiding communities, the Imperial Wizard blamed enemies of the organization for reports, which he said stated that the mob which is alleged to have killed Daniels and Richards were robbed in the Klan regalia.

Mrs. Snead Thanks Farmers Union for Their Contributions

Mrs. Snead reports that the Farmers Union at Owl Creek contributed six bushels of corn and three bushels of potatoes and three gallons of syrup to be used for the less fortunate of the City.

Cooperation of this sort is much appreciated. Mrs. Snead stated that this community has always been much interested in the work, being familiar with certain cases that are being cared for in the City, they realize just what the town people are up against.

It is also stated that there are many families in town, which should be on the farm, and would be if they could get located. People rush to town hearing of high prices paid for labor, never considering the expense of living in town, neither the number of idle days they'll have. Farmers needing laborers might do well to call the United Charities Office, for Mrs. Snead is always in touch with people who need work.

PASSENGER SHOT TO DEATH ON TRAIN NEAR ANADRAKO

(By the Associated Press)

ANADRAKO, Jan. 10.—Walter Speers, a passenger on a south bound Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific train was shot twice through the head as the train was standing at the station here today. He is not expected to live. J. Cravens, a fellow passenger, is in the county jail in connection with the shooting. No charges have been placed against him. Both men were en route to Granite, but were not together. Cravens ticket was issued at Nashville, Tenn.

Mystery?

Short-lived is the negro school house that makes its appearance on the educational horizon in the Maxwell community.

Mysterious to the county school officials, is the rapidity in which negro schools in that vicinity sink in flames, always of incendiary origin.

Three schools have been burned to the ground on the same land sight in the Maxwell community during the past twelve months, A. Floyd, county superintendent, stated Monday.

The school was again offered up in flames Saturday, according to word received in the county superintendent's office this morning.

No plans have been formulated for the re-construction of the school, it was stated Tuesday.

FIVE SMOTHERED BY GAS IN MINE

Victims Entered Mine After Disregarding Instructions of Mine Officials.

(By the Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 10.—Entering the pit in the face of warning that it was dangerous, five miners met death in Dolomite mine No. 1 of the Woodward Iron company near here early today in a gas explosion. The men were killed outright, according to reports to newspapers.

Four of the miners were negroes and the fifth was W. E. Lewis, 53, white.

Dolomite No. 1 is about two miles from Dolomite No. 3 where ninety miners were killed last November in a dust explosion and is a part of the same vein of coal worked by the Woodward company.

The blast was confined to one "room" in the mine. All that prevented a greater loss of life was the fact that few men were in the pit at that hour, it was stated in early reports.

Gas had been discovered in the mine and warnings posted instructing the men not to enter.

The five victims were said to have ignored this official warning.

TO INVESTIGATE ADA WATER FLOW

Estimate Made by Engineers for Proposed Pipe Line from Byrd's Mill.

Investigation of the water supply from Byrd's Mill was being made today by Walter Smith, street commissioner, and H. S. Darlington, city engineer. They were visiting the spring while it is at the lowest point in production for the year, it was explained.

City authorities are seriously considering the necessity of a new pipe line to Byrd's Mill and are trying to estimate the amount of minimum output in order to prepare figures for framing a gravity flow pipe line system large enough to handle the entire output.

The minimum production of the spring is reached at this season of the year. The engineer will be better able to make his estimates from the minimum output, it was said.

It is pointed out that a gravity flow pipe line large enough to take the entire output will give Ada a lasting water supply. The amount of water the city could expect will be announced after the commissioner and engineer prepare their report of today's investigation.

Reports from the spring are that trouble is being encountered in keeping the water supply at normal. This is considered as a bad indication as the city's demand for water is less at this time than any period of the year. One pump is used during the day and the other at night, in order to keep the flow at normal and to prevent overtaxing one pump. The line conveying the water to Ada is also, reported in bad condition.

Water pressure today was near the forty mark, while the lowest reached last summer during the greatest demand was twenty-five. Normal production ranges from thirty-five to fifty pounds, it was said at the water office.

AMERICA CLOSES HER THREE YEAR WATCH ON RHINE

Withdrawal of Troops From Coblenz Area Ordered by President.

SENATE FAVORS ACTION

Only One Thousand Men to Be Left in Germany by Evacuation Order.

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Withdrawal of the American troops from the Rhine was ordered today by President Harding.

Announcing the decision the state department said that the president deemed the time expedient for the recall of the forces now at Coblenz.

The American forces remaining in that area number about 1,000 men and it was indicated that withdrawal orders would be carried out as soon as the American commander, Major General Allen, could make the necessary arrangement for winding up the affairs of the army of occupation.

A resolution favoring such withdrawal was adopted Saturday by the senate but it was not apparent today how far it had contributed to the president's decision nor how far the administration had been influenced by the situation brought about by the French movement into the Ruhr valley.

The date of actual withdrawal of the troops will be left to the war department where it was said that American evacuation of the Coblenz zone would be conducted in an orderly fashion.

Officials of the state and war department refused flatly to make any explanation of the declaration to recall Major General Allen and his forces other than to repeat that it was considered expedient to complete at this time America's withdrawal from Europe.

Secretary Weeks was called to the white house early today and the purpose of the government to withdraw the troops was discussed before his return to the war department. It was learned that formal orders had not yet been sent to General Allen to begin the homeward movement, although he has knowledge of the plan for an early evacuation and is prepared to move on short notice.

As an indication that no time would be lost, it was made known late today that the transport St. Mihiel leaves New York today or tomorrow to bring home the bulk of the Rhine forces. A few small detachments will be left for a short time to close out final settlements involved in the withdrawal.

Secretary Hughes attended the conference at the White House which preceded the disclosure that the troops were to be withdrawn at once.

The troops probably will return via Bremen, which has been the American supply base for the Coblenz forces. The detachment consists of 850 men of the eighth infantry, and various headquarters and supply troops and detachments necessary to complete a garrison organization. The St. Mihiel is large enough to carry the entire company and its equipment.

The decision to bring General Allen and his forces back to the United States was unheralded. Officials both at the state and war departments had indicated previously that the recent developments in connection with the reparations tangle would not affect the status of the troops on the Rhine.

If officials had and news of a disturbing character beyond the information which has come through in press dispatches, they were carefully concealed.

COBLENZ, Jan. 10.—The orders for the withdrawal of the American troops from the Rhine, the news of which became known through a dispatch from the Associated Press office at Paris, caused much excitement as it spread among the members of the American army here.

Many of the men were depressed by the decision as it meant the end of the pleasant army life here, with an income of something like three million marks annually and upwards for the men.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—French official circles expressed great regret this afternoon over the announcement that President Harding has ordered the withdrawal of the American forces in Germany, the news of

ESTABLISHING CONFIDENCE.

The following observations by the Atoka Jeffersonian apply equally as well to Ada or any other community in the state. Says the Jeffersonian:

"When every man doubts his neighbor, when every eye is looking askance and every ear is cocked to hear a scandalous report, then it is when hard times, like a bird of ill omen is perched upon the municipal flag pole of the city and frightens away the busy bees of prosperity and befools everything in sight.

"Atoka has as many honest men and women as any city its size in the entire world. Let's have confidence in them.

"Every city has its quota of crooks, parasites, grafters, political teat suckers who are incompetent and must be taken care of, but that is no reason why we should lose confidence in the good, honest, honorable, clean, upright and intelligent working people and tradesmen and professional men of our town.

"Our citizenship should be too alert to fall for frame-ups, intrigues, chicanery, double crosses, and plain outright lies.

"You can tell the good people as a rule, by their actions, their words, their records, and their daily lives.

"It's up to the good people of Atoka to have confidence in one another, to boost one another, and if the good people of Atoka will begin the New Year by doing that and continue it, then the tide of prosperity will begin to come back; and the old city will seem like a different place.

"We must not look for the worst in everybody but must look for the best in those we know to be deserving, and as for those we know to be warts on the face of humanity, who neither toil nor spin, let's simply let them alone."

Apparently the citizenship of the state is willing for Governor Walton to have a chance to show what he intends to do before passing any severe criticism on his administration. This is as it should be and one and all might remember that Jim Hogg, the most popular governor Texas ever had, entered on his term of office amid the misgivings of those who feared he would wreck the business structure of the state. However, in the face of stormy opposition he gave the state the best administration in its history and legitimate business prospered. Hogg was honest to the core and insisted that state affairs be run on that principle. Walton has the same opportunity that Hogg had. It is up to him whether or not he measures up to his opportunity. Hogg held the confidence of the people until his dying day and they were at all times ready to follow his lead. Four years or less will prove if Walton can match this record. Here's hoping that he does.

All wealth is founded on land values, but Americans have not given much attention to the preservation of their land until recent years when the increased valuations have forced them to this course. Just now terracing is taking the day everywhere and Pontotoc county is keeping pace with other sections in this important matter. One may see many fields cut by ditches and already ruined and may see a good many that once produced well but which have been turned out long ago. With such object lessons before them the farmers are pushing their terracing operations with vigor so that within a few more years the soil will be held as well as it was at the beginning and saved for further service of mankind.

The person who expects to exert any influence must know when he has reached the decisive point and act accordingly. The orator must stop when he has reached the climax, just as the blacksmith must know when his iron is at the proper temperature to strike. A man's ability to judge human nature often measures his success. When he clinches his point he lets well enough alone. The propagandist who keeps on after he has wearied the public with his constant round of sophistries hurts his cause more than he. Judging human nature is a great game.

Perhaps it is all right to be proud, but there is no need to be a fool along with it. The two do not go well together and the proud one has a tough time at the hands of the public when once it gets his proper measure.

It used to be said that a sucker is born every minute. Why not? If they were not born at this rate, the grafters would all starve, for it is the mission of the suckers to supply the grafters. A fool and his money are soon parted, according to the old proverb.

If anything goes wrong with the inaugural program at Oklahoma City, it cannot be charged to the weather man. Never was the weather more favorable for an occasion of this kind.

The cotton factory at Sand Springs will be the second in Oklahoma, the other being at Guthrie. Why not look about and see if it is not possible to locate the third one at Ada?

Burning God in Effigy
(Kansas City Journal)

Soviet Russia has apparently reached the ne plus ultra of rabid fanaticism. Infinitely worse than a religious war, arousing the animosities of sects, is the blasphemous act of the red government in "burning Almighty God in effigy."

This appalling description will send a thrill of horror throughout the world, surfeited as it is with the shocks of soviet barbarism in butchering tens of thousands of the nobility and better class Russians.

The French "reign of reason" is cited as furnishing the only comparable parallel to this frightful outbreak of atheism. But the French "reign of reason" occurred considerably more than a century ago. It climaxed a long period during which the guillotine was the people's throne and the headsman their uncrowned king.

It expressed the people's reaction against centuries of dogmatism, during which the fact of God was so long turned away from them that his very existence was doubted—or at least a pretended doubt was expressed in roiling attacks upon anything and everything connected with religion.

Soviet Russia has no such provocation. The people of Russia, it is true, were crushed for centuries beneath the heel of czarism. But czarism is buried in the unknown grave where the mortal remains of the last czar lies. This is 1923, not the period of the French revolution. The Russian peasant in his most hapless state today cannot be compared with the victims of the ruthless tyranny of the French Bourbon, whose cruelty has been immeasurably outdone by the regime of Trotsky and Lenin.

It is difficult to conceive a more glaring affront to the sensibilities of the world than this horrifying repudiation of everything in the world holds sacred. It is more difficult to conceive any logical defense of such acts or any comparison between the reign of atheism in Russia and the reign of unreason in France a century and a quarter ago.

Consider the Business Man
Farm Life

The most reasonable creature in the world is the American business man. When it comes to the matter of profits he is a believer in reciprocity. He wants his and he is willing to give you yours. He comes pretty nearly being a practical believer in the Golden Rule. This may sound like heresy, or even like a joke, but it isn't. Think over the worth-while business men that you know—farmers, merchants, bankers, manufacturers—no matter what their line—and perhaps your experience will agree with ours. Of course there are unfortunate people who believe they can afford to cheat—profiteers, substitutes, tricksters. You discover these in all business—even in agriculture. But in the man, you find that the fellows who carry on in a big way are honestly in favor of the square deal.

WHITE RACE HAS SUPERIOR MINDS

Children of American-Japanese Tie Not Up to Standard of Native Youth.

(By the Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10. — White children are superior, intellectually to those born of the union of Japanese and Americans, the Japanese Exclusion League of San Francisco declared after an investigation by former Senator James D. Phelan.

The investigation was started when it was announced that psychology tests proved "super children" close to the "genius" class had been born to Helen Frances Emery, daughter of the late Archdeacon John A. Emery of the Episcopal Church and Gunjiro Aoki, a Japanese. Miss Emery and Aoki were married at Seattle 14 years ago. It was opposed by Archdeacon Emery, who died recently in London.

The tests were conducted at Stanford University but Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of the university supports the Exclusion league in its claim, stating that while it was true that the Aoki children tested very high, they were not as high as many white children given the same test. The first announcement Dr. Wilbur said, was premature and not authorized by the university.

The league claims that the brilliance of the Aoki children is merely an isolated example and that biologic theories concerning the inferiority of the Eurasian hold good, despite the tests.

The Aoki children, as well as hundreds of other children, were examined by the psychology department of Stanford, under the Terman-Binet method, which is a modification of the Binet-Simon intelligence test work out and used during the war by Professor Lewis M. Terman, noted Stanford educational psychologist.

American Chamber Commerce Patches Breaks in Germany

BERLIN.—Fifty-six disputes in German-American trade were arbitrated by the American Chamber of Commerce in Germany during the past year, it was announced at the organization's annual meeting here recently. Reports of the secretary and treasurer show that the 12 months constituted the most successful year in the two decades of the chamber's history. It will celebrate its 20th anniversary next January.

A large surplus of funds was reported on hand after all obligations had been met and the forecast was made that the institution had a very productive year to come. One of its outstanding achievements in 1922 was the development of a trustee account, through which accounts are now handled for 15 large American firms buying goods in Germany. In this department the chamber holds all money due on contracts, handing over the payments at the time delivery is made.

The chamber's membership increased 84 percent, during the year, the total active and associate members now number 1,600. At the general meeting Frederick W. King, of Chicago, who has been abroad for 20 years in the interests of American business, was re-elected president. Mr. King has been the organization's chief executive ever since the armistice. G. H. Wark, of the National Cash Register company, Dayton, Ohio, was re-elected first vice-president and all other officers were re-elected in office.

It is said in American commercial circles here that a period of readjustment in German-American trade necessarily has set in following the adoption of the new tariff in the United States. This is featured by a revised selection of goods for the American trade, with a study of prices and conditions in order to determine what wares may find a profitable market here.

WHY THAT LAME BACK?

That morning lameness—those sharp pains when bending or lifting, make work a burden and rest impossible. Don't be handicapped by a bad back—look to your kidneys. You will make no mistake by following this Ada resident's example.

Mrs. Robert Ellis, 210 W. 8th St., gave the following statement on February 28th, 1917: "About a year ago I began to have a great deal of trouble with my back. Just across the small of my back there was a heavy aching that nearly laid me up. This continued with no let-up until I used Doan's Kidney Pills that I bought at Gwin & May's Drug Store. Doan's gave me relief at once and I now keep them on hand to use should I need them."

On May 2, 1921, Mrs. Ellis added: "I haven't had to use Doan's Kidney Pills for a long time. I still remember the benefit I have received from them. They are surely a reliable kidney medicine and I gladly confirm the statement I made in 1917."

Price 60 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same kind that Mrs. Ellis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. (Adv.)

5,285 INSPECTIONS PER CAR

The faithfulness of performance so universally remarked in Dodge Brothers Motor Cars, is due, in no small part, to the thoroughness with which each unit is inspected during the process of manufacture and assembly.

A trained staff of 1100 experts is employed in this work alone, and approximately 5,285 inspections are made on each car.

So exacting and rigid are the standards applied to these inspections that the slightest variation, either in workmanship or material, is sufficient cause for immediate rejection.

Dodge Brothers are almost over-scrupulous in their constant aim to make each car as sound and perfect as is humanly possible.

The price of the "Type A" Sedan is $1595 delivered.

French Priests Marry And Start New Church

Abbe Maxime Adroit and his wife.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—(Special)—Abbe Maxime Adroit, whose marriage four years ago to Mile. Lucia Le Long, an eighteen-year-old parishioner, attracted attention, will be consecrated bishop of a newly formed "French Official Catholic Church" within the next few weeks, according to persons interested in the new church. Abbe Adroit and his wife are now living at Alfortville, a suburb.

When the abbe, then cure of the parish of Lacroix-en-Brie, married Mile. Le Long he was forbidden to celebrate mass, but was not excommunicated. The movement grew, several other young priests took wives, and following the old traditions of the Roman church, the new body which they formed selected its own bishop Abbe Adroit.

He, after having celebrated mass in private homes, rallied to his support several wealthy Catholics, one of whom donated a building for the church and homes for several of the married priests. Bishop Adroit will be consecrated by an assembly of 300 priests whom form the nucleus of the new church, and it is estimated that there are several hundred married priests in France, all anxious to resume their church duties under the new regime.

"We have recognized the separation of the church and state under the law of 1905," Abbe Adroit said. "We refuse any longer to admit that Rome can dictate whether priests can or cannot marry, for we are convinced that married life enables a priest to come closer to all the members of the church, because he is better able to share their joys and troubles. We have not asked Rome to permit us to marry. We simply married and then told Rome what we had done. And if the door is closed to us by the Roman church we have found a new door open."

Madame Adroit says that she is absolutely happy and that she could see no reason why a priest should not make the best husband in the world. She is now twenty-two; he is forty-three years of age.

Silk Association of Japan Ends its Service to People

The profit is to be distributed as follows: 1,670,000 yen among the shareholders, as dividend at the rate of 10 percent per annum; 450,000 yen to directors and other officials as bonuses; 506,000 yen to the raw silk association, 200,000 yen to the Yokohama Exchange; 2,860,000 yen to be paid as income tax, and 1,200,000 yen as expenditure for the extension of the silk conditioning house.

The balance, estimated at 1,800,000 yen, will be contributed to the Department of Agriculture and Commerce to be applied toward the expenditure for the establishment of warehouses for raw silk and silk fabrics.

Japanese Scientist Finds Discovery is Faked for Public

(By the Associated Press)
TOKIO, Jan. 10.—Police authorities in Kawaguchi-machi, in Saitama prefecture, are confronted with the solution of a problem that baffled scientists. About a year and a half ago, a well-to-do country specialist on metallurgy, Tatsudo Hatori, living in the suburbs of Kawaguchi-machi, near Tokio, claimed to have succeeded in converting anything into silver.

Dr. Truneya Marusawa, professor of the Kyushu Imperial University, proceeded to Kawaguchi-machi to make a personal study of the subject. The result was a complete disappointment, according to his latest publication.

The professor says he discovered that the apparent success of the claimed theory was entirely due to tricks played by an assistant, who would secretly pour special chemical liquids containing silver upon the materials taken up for experiment. Dr. Marusawa spent eighteen months in his work and has put the matter in the hands of the police.

FIRST LAP NEAR END IN LEAGUE

High School and Frogs are Winners in Tilts Tuesday Nights.

Entering on the last lap of the first half of the city basketball league schedule, four teams last night hung up new records and the results which only served to increase interest in the winners, making no change in the standing of teams.

High school team, on defeating the Cement plant ended its part of the first half and will not be on the floor again until January 20. They ended the half with four victories and one defeat. Frogs have three victories and one defeat and have one game left in the first half. It is with the Ada News. Winner of this game will be contenders for the tie with the high school team for honors in the first half.

The Cement team, losing to the high school 21 to 12, have not won a game the first half. They have one game left, being with the college Cubs Saturday night. Battery and Cubs will end the league season next Tuesday night with a single game.

Heaviest score of the season was made last night when the Frogs raced away with the game with Guardsmen, winning 36 to 9. Little and Jobe played stellar games, with Little getting ten field goals and Jobe six. Ada News, Frogs and High School are the only teams now standing a chance to win honors in the first half.

Kipling Bids for Own Manuscript to Withhold Work

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON.—The earliest unpublished manuscript of Rudyard Kipling, one of which he had forgotten existed, has been offered for sale and the highest bidder so far is the author himself. The manuscript contains twelve pages and is entitled, "At the Pit's Mouth; Personal recollections of Duncan Paterson—translated from the diary by R. K." and is valued by the owners at 800 pounds sterling. It was written in 1884, while Kipling was a young journalist in India.

The story is a satire on Anglo-Indian society and tells of a man's love for a married woman. One of the "Wee Willie Winkie" stories of the same author has the same title "At the Pit's Mouth" but except of the locality, the resemblance to this early manuscript ends.

Mr. Kipling, when informed that the manuscript had been purchased by the dealers, at first doubted its authenticity but on examination he declared the work genuine, although he only faintly remembered incidents connected with it. Efforts have been made to publish the manuscript, which is still protected by the original copyright, but Mr. Kipling has refused to give his sanction. This is said to be one of the reasons for his attempts to gain possession of the work.

Modern Eve Takes Cash And Leaves Adam Cold

Carl A. and Mrs. Sutter, better known as the "Adam and Eve" of the Maine "Garden of Eden."

(By Central Press.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Gone are the days when Adam and Eve cavorted in the widely advertised but as yet undiscovered Garden of Eden.
According to reliable Biblical reports Eve caused Adam considerable mental anguish and made it necessary for him to go to work when she fell for the serpent and a big red apple, thereby closing the garden gates and sending Adam and the erring Eve out into the cold, cruel world.
The twentieth century also boasts of its "Adam and Eve" and the wise man of the east who once remarked that "history repeats itself" evidently knew whereof he spoke.
For the modern Adam and Eve, like their prototypes, have split up on the apple of discord and now "Adam" has to go to work.
A few months back one Carl A. Sutter and his wife, in quest of publicity and the filthy lucre, decided to do an "Adam and Eve."
No one being able to give them the exact location of the original Garden of Eden the pair decided that the wild fastnesses of the Maine woods would do just as well.
And so with a great fanfare of trumpets, so to speak, in the form of reams of publicity, the modern "Adam" and "Eve," just as twilight was fading one evening, disappeared in the sheltering shadows of the forest, clad only in a few scanty leaves.
Then came the startling tales of the thrilling experiences of the pair, their escapes from the forest's animal marauders, their primeval hut of boughs, the methods employed to snare fish, fowl and small animals for food.
But the modern "Adam and Eve" were imbued with Yankee business ingenuity. They copyrighted the tales of their experiences, something our Biblical forebears neglected to do.
When the experiment was over and "Adam and Eve" again became Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Sutter, their foresight in copyrighting their "act" had put them in possession of a fat and bulging bankroll.
Everywhere they were in demand. And in order to accommodate the curious public they signed up with a theatrical troupe.
Now this was not a snake show and there were no serpents visible, so the erstwhile "Adam" felt no fear for the equally erstwhile "Eve." But there was in the company one "Prince Lazuli," known among the trouperes as the "master mind." He isn't with the show anymore. Neither is "Eve." And "Adam's" bankroll is missing.
"Adam" says he is going to sue for divorce.
Two things impress him: First, that his wife disappeared at the same time as his bankroll; secondly, that "Prince Lazuli," the "master mind" also disappeared at the same time.

NEW FLEET OF SCARLET SPEEDERS LINK FARMYARD WITH CITY DEALER

"MINUTE MEN" FIELD SERVICE

TO THE FARMER'S DOORSTEP

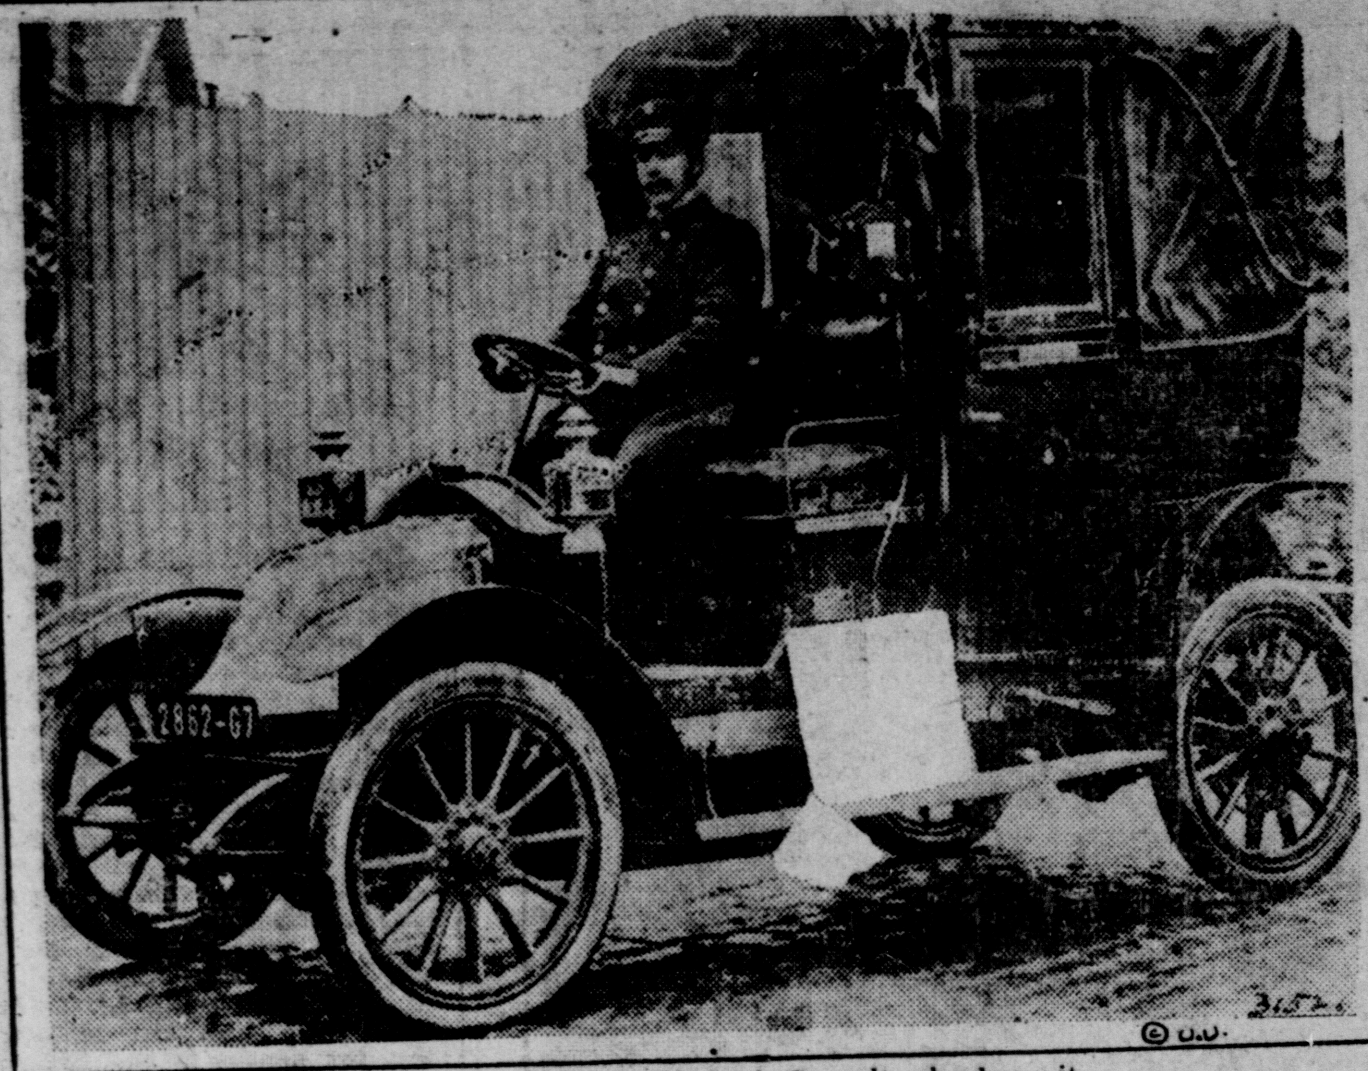

A new link has been forged in the chain that connects the farm with the city. First the passenger car—now ten million strong—revolutionized the social side of country life. Then the motor truck developed to a capacity which hauls 1,500,000,000 tons of freight one mile a year.
Now comes the Red Baby. It is a high-powered service truck that can speed like a fire engine to a harvest field or to a dairy farm to make machinery repairs, furnish supplies and otherwise aid the farmer. It is estimated that when the service is in full swing it will save American farmers millions of dollars annually by relieving emergencies at those critical periods when delays involve gigantic losses.
Thousands of these service vehicles are chugging through the rural districts from New York to California and from the Canadian Northwest to Texas. Like the Scarlet Riders of the far north, they live on the roads. They make it possible for the farmer to get precisely the same service that the city man gets from the man who delivers milk to his door. With extension of the good roads program the service will eventually be expanded to every one of America's 6,500,000 farmers.
The trucks cannot be purchased by the public. They are owned only by McCormick-Deering dealers, of which there are over 15,000 scattered across the country. This new fleet of "quick serve" motors made by the International Harvester Company, already is completely revolutionizing the old methods of serving the farmer "at the earliest convenience," which once meant from one day to two weeks.

Sharks Causing Trouble

(By the Associated Press.)
LONDON.—Sharks lately have been causing havoc to fishermen and lines belonging to fishermen in the Firth of Forth. In three days the fishing fleet caught three of the great fish, one with seven feet of line in its belly.

The sharks were sighted in large numbers at many of the English bathing beaches last summer, and valuable fishing.
About 30,000 Americans are permanently buried in cemeteries of allied nations.

TAXI THAT HELPED SAVE FRANCE ENTERS MUSEUM

The taxi, with its driver, M. Louis Gouault, who drove it.

Taxis usually are considered nuisances, especially by pedestrians. But the French government thinks enough of the one above to install it in the war museum of the Hotel des Invalides, Paris. This rickety old cab was a veteran in service when the war broke out eight years ago. It was commandeered with every other taxi in the nation to rush troops to the front to halt the Germans' march on Paris. Louis Gouault, the driver, although then forty-four, stuck by his wheel and piloted the machine through those hectic days. Recently he drove the cab, bullet-ridden and creaking with age, into the museum.

Is World's Wealthiest Woman About to Wed Young Architect?

(By Central Press.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—The famous "gold coast" out north is marking time awaiting the announcement of the marriage of the elderly but nevertheless extremely wealthy Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick and her comparatively modest but youthful "friend", Edward Krenn.
Mrs. McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller and divorced wife of Harold E. McCormick, the Harvester king, is somewhat over fifty, according to the current reports among the "bonton" of the so-called gilded shore.
Krenn, on the other hand, is just a humble Swiss architect. So far as is known, he has no illustrious ancestors or uncounted millions to draw upon. But he has youth. He's just twenty-eight.
When Mrs. McCormick returned to the United States from Europe something over a year ago, she brought, among other things, her daughter, Mathilda, engaged to a Swiss riding master, Max Oser, considerable baggage and the young and ambitious Mr. Krenn.
Since the arrival, but more particularly since the divorce of the McCormicks, little more than a year ago, which enabled Harold F. to hie himself over to Paris and take unto himself for a wife the youthful Ganna Walska, Krenn has been more or less at home at the palatial "gold coast" home of Mrs. McCormick, though to all intents and purposes he maintained his residence at the fashionable Drake hotel nearby.
But now reports, current within the colony of those overburdened with the world's goods, is that Mrs. McCormick priceless furs have been refined in bridal satin and that fifteen new suits are hanging in Krenn's suite where out half that number hung before.
The McCormick residence is under constant surveillance by newspaper reporters and camera men. Every move within and without is noted.
Aside from Krenn but few persons are able to pass the portals guarded long as well by a surly butler whose growl turns into a salaam as he graciously welcomes the young Swiss.
Krenn, of course, is looking after some of Mrs. McCormick's business affairs and naturally he must confer often and long with his employer, oft mentioned as his fiancée.
Down at Crown Point, Ind., where the Windy City's sick swains and maidens are wont to romp to undergo "the tie that binds," another detachment of newspaper men are on guard, but as yet their vigil has been in vain.
But the rumor will not down. Says Mrs. McCormick anent it: "Not now or ever, but it's nobody's business if I do."
And that's that.

Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick and Edward Krenn.

Honolulu Mothers Now Taught To Care Properly for Kiddies

Honolulu mothers' class in child care.

Under the direction of the House of Friendship in Honolulu, run by the Young Women's Christian Association, the native women are being taught the proper methods of caring for their children. Hundreds of native women are eagerly taking the course.

Girls Inherit Fortune

Miss Celestina Fasola, the heiress, and her younger sister, Maria.

In the latter class are two sisters with the dark, sparkling eyes of their native Italy, daughters of a Weebawken physician, Dr. Ferdinand Fasola.
The "golden spoon" in the case of Celestina, the older of the two and just turned twenty-one, is the bulk of an estate valued at $750,000; in the case of Maria, the younger, one fifteenth of that amount.
But to get back to the beginning years ago, in Italy, Mrs. Maria B. Fasola died. She left an estate valued at $50,000, consisting largely or interests in Italian silk mills. Also she left a will, rather a peculiar document as wills usually go.
The document provided that the bulk of her estate was to go to her first grandchild to reach the age of twenty-one and that one-fifteenth of it was to go to the first grand-daughter to bear her name.
That was years and years ago. Gradually the modest little Fasola estate grew and grew. And as the years passed the children of Mrs. Fasola went, each their separate ways.
Ferdinand became a physician and finally settled here in this little Jersey town. Bye and bye a daughter was born. And then another.
The first born, Celestina, has just reached her maturity—the first of the granddaughters of Mrs. Fasola to reach that age. The second born, named Maria after her grandmother is just seventeen.
Together now they are about to share the estate which for fifty years has remained untouched and which now amounts to about 15,000,000 lire or $750,000 at the present rate of exchange.

Pontotoc National Loan Association Elects New Officers at Conference

The annual meeting of the members of the Pontotoc National Loan association was held here Tuesday afternoon, resulting in the election of a board of directors consisting of J. W. Balthrop, I. R. Gilmore, W. M. McWhirt, J. B. Gaar and W. H. Brents. The officers are J. W. Balthrop, president and L. A. Braly, secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was enthusiastic. A paper was read, outlining the Myrick plan for rural credits. Among other things Mr. Myrick said: In spite of the past two years' deflation, the underlying soundness of American agriculture is proven by the fact that relatively few borrowers under the federal farm loan system are in arrears of either principal or interest.

This is a remarkable showing, for the total number of borrowers may soon reach 250,000, and the original amount of their loans may be nearly a thousand million dollars.

Federal Farm Bonds. Most of this money has come from investors who have bought federal farm loan bonds issued against the security of your mortgages. These bonds are proving one of the best and safest of investments.

We borrowers only need to continue to meet our interest, and the small semi-annual dues upon principal to so increase the popularity of federal farm loan bonds as possible to make them salable at a still lower rate of interest.

This would reduce correspondingly the interest paid by new borrowers, which already has dropped from 6 per cent to 5 1/2 per cent. It may go even lower after the financial world gets adjusted to future conditions.

Therefore, it behooves each of us to buy farm loan bonds ourselves, whenever we have a little surplus to invest, and encourage our friends to do likewise. This together with prompt payment of interest and principal, may in time still further reduce the interest rate we have to pay.

Improving the System -- Experience reveals details in which the federal farm loan system may be improved. However, beware of certain interests that, disguised as the farmer's friend, may ask Congress to so "perfect the federal farm loan act" as to undermine or destroy it.

Plenty of men and interests would welcome such a result, as it would again restore their power to pluck the farmer and exploit his earnings.

Rural Credit in Sight. In addition to the long-time, low rate, easy payment farm loans secured by first mortgage, every farmer at some time or other could use more cash to advantage in his business, if he could get it from six months to three years on fair terms. Such may be called rural credit or intermediate credits.

Equally great is the need of such intermediate credits for co-operative associations, and to assist in marketing farm products in an orderly manner, or to aid in the cooperative purchase at wholesale for cash of any and all supplies required in agriculture or in the rural home.

Tenants to Become Owners. Any plan of rural credits also should make it easier for farm tenants to become farm owners, also for hired men and war veterans who are successful practical farmers, to own their own farms.

Most of these people do not have enough capital to buy and stock their homestead, even with the aid of a first mortgage thereon under the federal farm loan system. Now if they could borrow under reasonable conditions, on the security of a second mortgage, some fair part of the balance required, many thousands of these good people gradually would be able to earn and pay for their own farm homes.

You know, as I know, that thus to transform the farm tenant, the hired man or the worthy war veteran, into a successful farm owner, would solve many serious problems.

THRILLS, POLITICS AND LOVE IN "WOMAN'S SIDE"

"The Woman's Side," a thrilling first National drama abounding in human interest, love and adventure with a fascinating background of politics, will be shown at the McSwain theatre beginning today with Katherine MacDonald in the stellar role.

It is a story of a beautiful girl, Mary Gray, the daughter of the candidate for governor, who meets the son of a prominent publisher while she is visiting a zoological garden with her pupils from the slums, and renews a romance of childhood.

In the campaign which follows, her father's opposing candidate threatens to spring the eleventh hour coup by having the hero's father print a story laying bare the scandal of the divorce of Mary Gray's parents.

Mary's father refuses to explain the circumstances to the publisher, and, as a last resort, Mary goes to the opposing candidate's office and threatens to commit suicide in his office if he does not stop publication of the story, which will not only defeat her father but also leave her a nameless girl.

There is a tragic denouement when Judge Gray enters the office in time to save his daughter from herself. But a shot is fired from the outside and Mary is wounded. Suffice it to say that the story never went to press, that the whole mystery was cleared up, and that true happiness came into the life of Mary.

"The Woman's Side" is an original story by J. A. Barry, Katherine MacDonald's director. The star is supported by Edward Burns, Henry Barrows, Dwight Crittenden, Ora Devereaux and Wade Boteler.

The Mutual Benefit

By MORRIS SCHULTZ

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

Nobody knew very much about any of the occupants of Jackman's flats. Although the whole district was a slum—about to be rebuilt since the Jackman's Flat Concession had purchased it—it had in the old days, strange to say, been regarded as the aristocratic quarter of the city.

Strange derelicts lived in these tumbledown tenements that had once been mansions of wealthy people. There was the queer little woman in the black silk gown, who had a face so wrinkled and seamed that it was as if the entire past history of the quarter was imprinted on it by time.

"I wonder who she is!" said Ella Ross to her father.

"Oh, some derelict," he answered impatiently.

The old opera house had been unused for a generation. It had resounded to Jenny Lind and Patti in its day—when Jackman's flats was fashionable. Now it was to become the civic center of the new concession. Everything was to be rebuilt; already houses were rising, gardens being laid out. The Concession people were ambitious.

"Concerts and dances," said Ella Ross. "We want to start the show going by a big feature of some kind in the old opera house. Something that'll put the Jack in Jackman's."

Ella, who acted as her father's secretary, pored over the masses of old advertising matter discovered in the opera house basement.

"Look, father; isn't this queer! In 1888 Luise Toscana sang here in the presence of the governor and a fashionable audience. See, there's her picture! Doesn't she look sweet!"

"We'll have to get hold of somebody big like that," said Ross. "Not necessarily a singer, though. We can't afford their prices in these days. Some one who'll draw a crowd."

The little old woman who lived alone was very miserable. For thirty years she had subsisted on her tiny income in the two rooms she rented in the tenement. Now she was under orders to quit. She came to Ross in frantic, ignorant appeal.

"I've nowhere else to go, and—"

"My good woman, I can't help that," said Ross curtly. "You'll have to manage your own affairs. We can't stop pulling down these rookeries just because they've got inhabitants." He paused awkwardly. "Maybe you could remain an extra month without bothering about the rent, if the workmen don't start unroofing," he said more kindly.

"Mein Gott, vat ve going to do in dese days?" demanded old Schultz, the cobbler. Old Schultz remembered the time when his little shop had been patronized by people who were now only a name and a tradition. He seldom spoke; he had reached the age when men become silent. "Dere's old Mrs. Blanca—she's dying of her heart—"

"That's that poor old woman, father!" Ella exclaimed.

"Sure, Mr. Ross, and she'll die the minute she has to go to the poorhouse. You see, she's just got enough money to pay her rent, and she durns and sews for us all."

Ella Ross was beginning to discover what it meant to pull down Jackman's flats.

"Most of the old-timers don't know who she was," old Schultz continued, "but some of us remember Luise Toscana—"

"What?" shouted Ross. "Was old Mrs. Blanca Luise Toscana?"

"Sure she was. And—"

Ross smote his fist upon the table. "I've got it, Ella!" he shouted. "We'll let her sing at her own benefit!"

It was thirty years and more since the voice of Luise Toscana had been heard anywhere in song. She had never sung since her marriage. Nearly all who remembered her thought she was dead years before. When Ross led the little, wrinkled old woman forward in front of the crowded auditorium mutterings were heard: "It's a fake! That isn't Luise. I remember—"

Then, when the first notes rang out through the opera house every voice was hushed. From the throat of the little old woman came a flood of sweet song that held them spellbound. Old-timers who remembered the famous singer of the past generation sobbed unrestrainedly.

It was only "Annie Laurie"—Ross had a fine discrimination; he knew the effect of it—only "Annie Laurie," but the more potent to move their hearts for that.

"And for Bonnie Annie Laurie—" They caught their breath as the sweet voice resounded through the great palace.

"I'd lay me down and—" The little old woman swayed. Ross caught her as she fell. He tried to raise her.

But Luise Toscana had sung her last song at her own benefit. Or that of Jackman's flats.

Good Reason.

Jones met Smith rushing, about 12 o'clock, in a northerly direction as if he had scarcely a minute to live.

"Hello, old man!" said Jones.

"Where are you hurrying?"

"Home!" snapped Smith, smartly.

Jones stared at him in surprise, wondering what catastrophe had happened to cause this homeward rush so early in the day.

"Going home?" he repeated. "Why?" "Because I live there," snarled Smith.

Killing flies by an electric trap is the latest and is proving successful in many western hotels, restaurants and dairies.

ship, Commander Andrew H. Adams and the crew of the U. S. S. Bainbridge, which happened along, braved the choppy seas and in small boats ran alongside and rescued the women and children while the men jumped overboard. Afterward they were rescued from the water. Many of the women aboard the ship were refugees fleeing from Turkey.

Bolsheviks Want Students to Wage Fight for Future

(By the Associated Press)

MOSCOW.—Preparation of the young men who are about to enter the arena of life, so that the Soviet government may draw from among them not only Bolshevik teachers but also Bolshevik engineers, is the urgent task of the day in Russia, asserted Commissar of Education Lunacharsky recently in an address to the fourth All Russian Conference of Educational Workers in Moscow. The commissar, who discussed the trials of education in this country today, dwelt upon the improved outlook for the future, and declared that the retreat on the education front should be considered as ended.

"We must count on the students of today—the Bolshevik builders of life—to supplant those who were exhausted and worn out in the Czar's dungeons and by the storms of recent years," he said. "We have now a splendid student body which has been recruited from the ranks of the workers and peasants. The working class and the peasantry should create their own intellectual war. The new students are superior to the old students of other days."

"No matter how deficient may be the theoretical preparation of our present students, it should be remembered that in the pre-revolution period the classical colleges presented to the universities an extremely undesirable element of youth, as was attested by the statements of the old professors. We have admitted into the University here 30,000 new young men who are sympathetic toward us and who represent a creative force, capable in the near future, of co-operating with us in our work. This will be a real mass power of a high intellectual and moral order, allied with the working masses by the closest ties of common descent. They will be the standard bearers of new Russia."

Farmers' Column

The Ardmoreite states that the poultry show at Ardmore has been called off because there was so little interest in it that it was not thought worth while to go ahead. Some of those Carter county people had better come over and get a few pointers from the bunch that pulled off the show here.

Probably not a dozen sacks of commercial fertilizer have ever been brought to Pontotoc county, but hereafter its use will become the regular thing, especially with those desiring early gardens or truck patches. The demonstration given by Mr. Atkinson near the pickle factory last spring convinced me that the way to get the benefit of the early market is to use some of this fertilizer. At all events, that is what I expect to do next spring, if I can get hold of a supply.

Several growers have experimented with Porto Rico potatoes the past year. Rev. W. D. York of Colbert is one of these. From 1,000 slips he raised 44 bushels, all of which he saved for seed. There are many good qualities about this potato that he likes, but he will give it a further trial before deciding whether it is equal to the Nancy Hall, at present the queen of the potato kingdom of Oklahoma.

Successful potato growers say that the best seed potatoes are obtained from cuttings made from the growing vines. They say these are of better shape and are freer from disease than those raised from slips.

Bentley Acting Director

Stillwater, Okla.—W. D. Bentley, father of the farmers' co-operative demonstration work in Oklahoma, has been restored to the "head of the household" of the state's demonstration forces, at least temporarily. Unable, at its January meeting, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. A. Conner as director of the Extension Division of the A. and M. College, the state board of agriculture has named Bentley to be acting director until a new chief is secured. For the last four years he has been assistant director.

Bentley now is the oldest man in point of service in the demonstration forces of the United States. He was one of the first field men selected by Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, originator of the demonstration idea, when, in 1904, the original field force was being organized. His territory then was north and west Texas.

When, in 1907, the demonstration work was extended into Oklahoma, Bentley was the man selected to undertake the job. Headquarters at the time were established at Tishomingo. A year later, Bentley moved to Yukon and, in 1912, state headquarters were established in Oklahoma City where they remained until the federal demonstration work was combined with the A. and M. College's extension work in 1914. Then Bentley came to Stillwater as the first director of extension.

Ill health, resulting from a nervous breakdown, forced him to give up the directorship in 1916 and he was transferred to Washington as field assistant to Bradford Knapp, then chief of extension work in the south. After two years of service in Washington, he returned to Oklahoma to be assistant director, a position he has held ever since.
